

If you are looking for disability advocacy support try the NDIS search tool.

It is a tool that can help you find an advocate, who is a person who is there to help. They can provide support, encourage you to make informed decisions and help people with a disability to learn about their human rights and how to access them.